

Five Burning Questions Investors Have in this Emerging Bull Market

Peter Bell, Canaccord Genuity Michael Gray, Agentis Capital

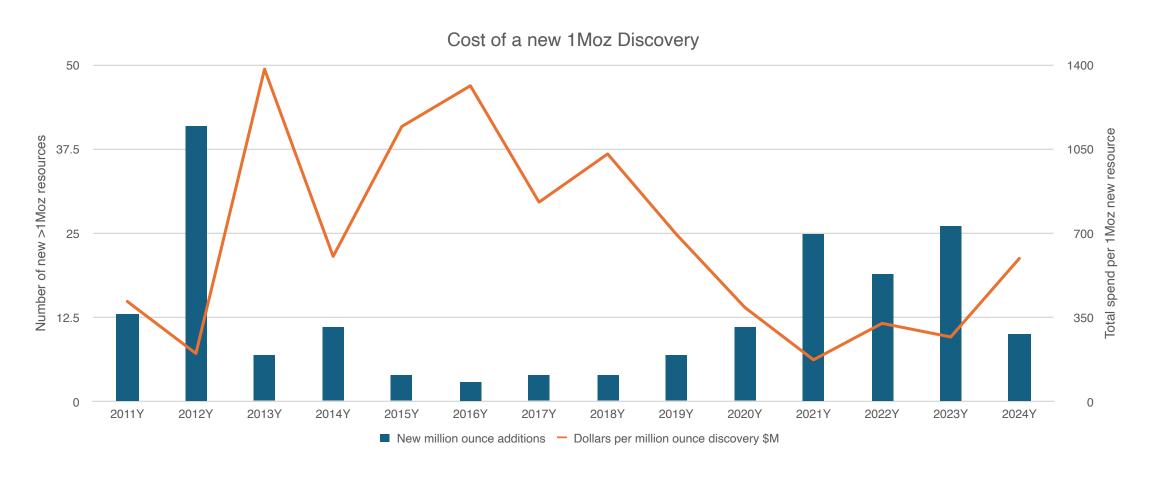

Five Burning Questions Investors Have in this Emerging Bull Market:

- 1. Will there be discoveries?
- 2. Will investors support them?
- 3. How do we know what's good?
- 4. How do we know which projects will generate superior returns?
- 5. Who will be bought?

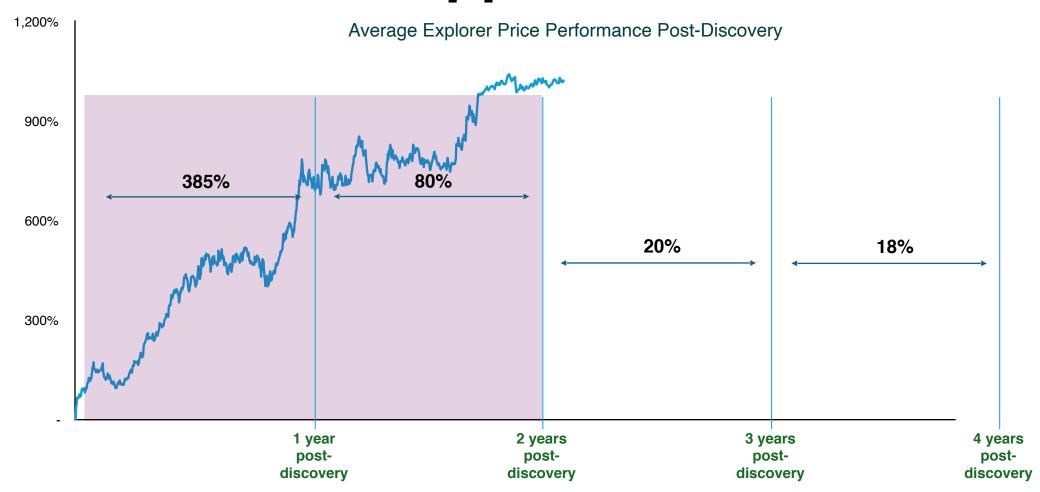

Will there be discoveries?

Will there be discoveries?

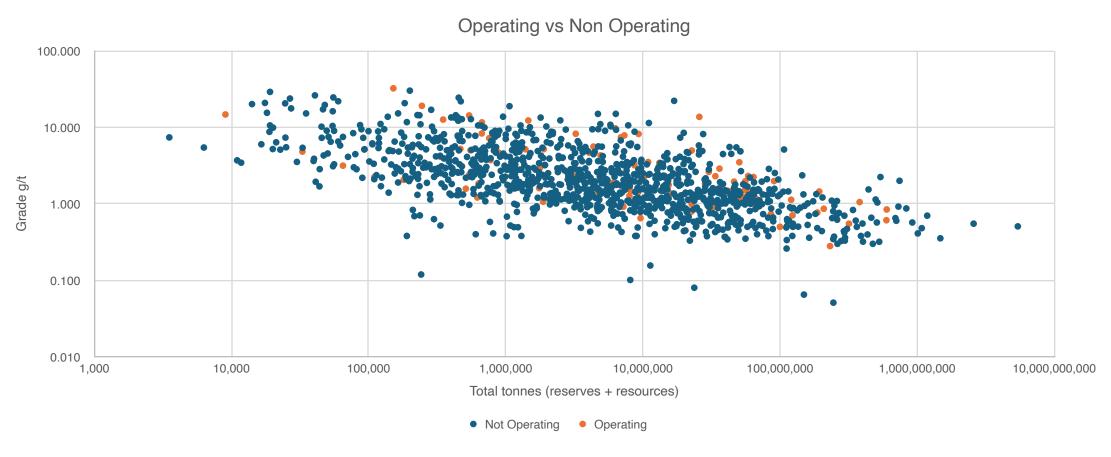

Will investors support them?

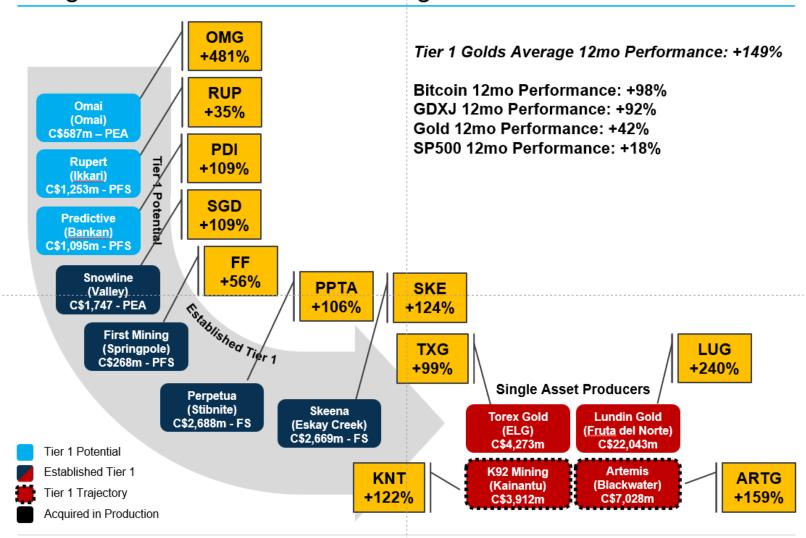

Source: data compiled by Agentis Capital, FactSet. Average data based on discovery holes and dates: Arizona Mining HDS-335 (Sep 29/15), Gold Standard DS15-13 (Jan 21/16), SilverCrest LC16-05 (Aug 2/16), GT Gold TTR008 (Jul 25/17), Great Bear DHZ-003 (Aug 22/18), New Found NFGC19-01 (Jan 28/20), Rupert 120038 (May 12/20), Reunion OKWD20-01 (Feb 18/21), Snowline V21-002 (Jan 25/22), Southern Cross (May 16/22) and Founders 23FR014 (Aug 24/23). Includes sold companies.

How do we know what's good?

Which will generate superior returns?

Single Asset Tier 1 Golds: Strong 12mo Share Price Returns

Source: S&P Capital IQ Pro; Agentis Capital research. Note: Black denotes asset was in production when acquired; we have excluded development assets in the chart with >$2bn capex, M&A values in the above chart show transaction value, all others show current market capitalization. 1. Value on 100% basis.

STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL

2

Who will be bought?

Tier 1 Targets: +300kozAu and <$1000/oz AISC

Five Burning Questions Investors Have in this Emerging Bull Market

Peter Bell, Canaccord Genuity Michael Gray, Agentis Capital